COLUMBIA, S.C. (April 13, 2015) — A3 Communications, Inc., an information technology and security firm, was recently recognized as one of America's top 10 fastest growing systems integrators for the third consecutive year. Awarded the distinction by Security Dealer & Integrator (SD&I) magazine, the company ranked an impressive No. 6 for 2015.

"We are so proud to be included in the 'Fast50' once again," said Brian Thomas, A3 Communications President. "We owe this year's success to expansion into new markets and product lines, while continuing to exceed our current clients' expectations, project after project."

In its fourth annual list, the competition honors the country's 50 most successful and progressive security dealers, determining rank with an algorithm that balances percentage and revenue growth throughout the past three years. Since 2012, A3 Communications experienced a remarkable 65 percent growth, with record profit expected for 2015.

"A3 continues to find ways to add value for our customers by quickly adopting new technology, while keeping an eye on the horizon for further innovation and technological trends," said Thomas. "We rely on our flexibility for growth, relevance and customer satisfaction. This allows us to implement the best, most current solutions, satisfying needs now, and into the future."

SD&I magazine will honor the winners during an exclusive ceremony at the ISC West conference in Las Vegas, NV, on April 15 at 4 p.m. A3 will attend the tradeshow, the largest physical security event in the Americas, to see up and coming technology, learn new skills and receive recognition.
